Laser hair removal treatments are a permanent solution for removing most unwanted hair. If you're tired of shaving, waxing or plucking body hair only to have it return days later, you may be interested in laser hair removal. No matter what skin type you have, newer lasers can safely and effectively remove unwanted hair from your face and body.

Laser hair removal systems use laser light, an intense pulsating beam of light, to remove unwanted hair. Whether it's on your face, arms, legs or other areas, laser hair removal may be an option if you seek long-term results. With multiple treatments, long-term hair removal is possible! Common treatment locations include the bikini line, legs, armpits, upper lip, chin, nose, back, neck, shoulders, buttocks and genitals.

Hair color and skin type are the key factors that influence the treatment success.

Lasers are most successful on people with dark hair (brown or black) and light skin. However, this technique can also be used on people with darker skin types if the correct laser is used by a trained laser professional.

Candidates For Laser Hair Removal . . .

Can I Have Laser Hair Removal Treatments?

Laser Hair Removal, when first introduced in the late 1990's, was limited to light skinned individuals with dark hair. Today this has all changed. The advent of the new YAG Laser System has afforded excellent results for individuals with dark skin and dark hair. Permanent Laser Hair Removal can be achieved by precisely following each treatment protocol recommended by your Trained Laser Hair Removal Professional.

Laser Hair Removal for Light Skin Types.

I personally use the Candela GentleLASE™ Laser and if you are looking for a safe, effective aesthetic laser treatment, the Candela GentleLASE™ is the way to go. The GentleLASE™ Laser System can be used to treat hair removal on light skinned people as well as other aesthetic laser treatments such as Skin Rejuvenation, Facial & Leg Vein Treatments, Fine Line and Wrinkle Reduction, Skin Tightening, Vascular Lesion Treatments, Hemangiomas, (more commonly known as birthmarks) and can remove discolored skin pigmentation caused by acne, aging, sun spots, freckles, melasma and more. The lighter the skin and the darker the hair the more successful your laser treatments will be.

Laser Hair Removal for Darker Skin Types.

The FDA recently approved a new long pulse ND: YAG laser. The ND Yag laser gives people with dark skin and dark hair better options with laser hair removal than ever before. This is the laser I personally use for my clients with dark skin and hair. Before the approval of this laser, those with darker skin types had a greater chance of pigment discoloration. People who dark skin and are considering laser hair removal should also know that there is a very good chance that it will take more treatments for the hair removal to become permanent. This is because there is a different kind of laser being used, one that is not as concentrated and focused on the skin. This is to keep you safe from burns or skin discoloration. Find a specialist that is professional trained and educated on using The YAG Laser to remove unwanted hair on dark skin and what precautions they will have to take to successfully treat you safely.

Facial Laser Hair Removal

Facial laser hair removal is a method to remove unwanted hair in your face and neck if needed. Hair that appears on upper lips or chin is very up setting for women. Therefore women mostly want to remove it because it ruins their looks. If you are intended to remove those hairs, it is important to speak to a electrologist that does laser. She will advise if she thinks you need to see a physician about it if it is abnormal hair growth. She can help you to determine what method of hair removal best for you. If the excessive hair growth is not because of abnormal hormone, you can try several method of hair removal system. Tweezing is not something you should do or you will worsen the problem. Even though it is one of the most common methods to remove hair. But it is painful for some women; after all repeated plucking can cause irritation especially for dark skinned women. It can cause scarring and much more hair growth. When plucking a hair you are removing skin and the blood rushes to the injury to the follicle. That creates a stronger hair and takes more treatment to rid the problem. Shaving has no effect on hair growth (wives tale). Shaving is like cutting your hair there is no effect on growth. But plucking wakes up undeveloped hair and increases hair growth on the face so DO NOT PLUCK.... Eyebrows are not a problem it is a different kind of hair.

The best way to remove the unwanted hair permanently is through laser hair removal. The ideal candidate for laser hair removal is those who have fair skin and dark hair. If you are intended to get laser hair removal, make sure you will have it performed by experienced laser practitioner with the latest technology of laser hair removal system. Laser hair removal is not effective applied to blonde hair or white hair person.

Before the treatment, consult your doctor whether or not you are a good candidate for laser hair removal. Make sure also that the people treating you are licensed and experienced people. During the consultation you may want to ask about these important things:

- Is the laser equipment owned or rented?
- How experienced is the doctor?
- What results can the patient expect?
